LA FORTUNA

Thermal Capital of Costa Rica

*Visit La Fortuna,
We are more than a volcano...*

Introduction

Introduction

The community of La Fortuna began to define itself in the early 1940s, with the arrival of farmers from Ciudad Quesada, Grecia, Alajuela and other regions of the canton of San Carlos. These first settlers dedicated themselves to agriculture, hunting and cattle raising.

The first family settlement in La Fortuna was in 1914 and 1915, in the area known today as La Palma. Up until 1948 it was known as El Burío, however, the abundance of natural riches inspired Rufino Quesada, Antonio Hidalgo and Isolina Quesada to change its name to La Fortuna.

In 1950, the inhabitants voted on a referendum and decided to be annexed to the canton of San Carlos (they belonged to the canton of San Ramón). In the 1930's, Elías Kooper Cubero, Rufino Quesada, Isolina Quesada, Alberto Quesada, Antonio Hidalgo are recognized as the town founders.

The main river is the Arenal, the water source for the Arenal Hydroelectric Project, which generates 70% of the country's energy and also provides water to the Arenal Tempisque Project administered by the National Irrigation and Drainage Service (Servicio Nacional de Riego y Avenamiento, SENARA). Other rivers in the area include the Fortuna River, Burío River and La Palma Rivers. There are also a large number of streams, among them La Habana and Tiburones.

Production

This is one of the most productive districts of the canton due to the richness of its soils.

The inhabitants of La Fortuna have generally been dedicated to agriculture and cattle raising, producing beef and dairy cattle as well as dual purpose cattle and agricultural products such as roots and tubers (cassava, tiquizque, ñampí, yams, Chinese potatoes and ginger) as well as plantain bananas and papaya.

La Fortuna today

Currently, the district receives approximately 3,000 tourists a day during peak season and has approximately 110 hotels divided into small, medium and large businesses.

Undoubtedly, the beauty of the landscape has made La Fortuna one of the most visited sites in the country, due to the variety of tourist sites and attractions ranging from hanging bridges to admiring the volcano, rivers and mountains surrounding the district.

Over the years, more and more foreigners have fallen in love with the area and have decided to buy properties in La Fortuna, either to live on a permanent basis or to be able to visit more regularly throughout the year. The topography of La Fortuna and San Carlos is very flat, in fact the area is known as the "San Carlos plains". It is an area rich in wildlife and tropical forests.

La Fortuna of San Carlos is an area rich in natural attractions, which makes it ideal for adventure and nature tourism. La Fortuna has many attractions, which can be visited on your own, such as the Arenal Volcano, the La Fortuna waterfall or the hanging bridges.

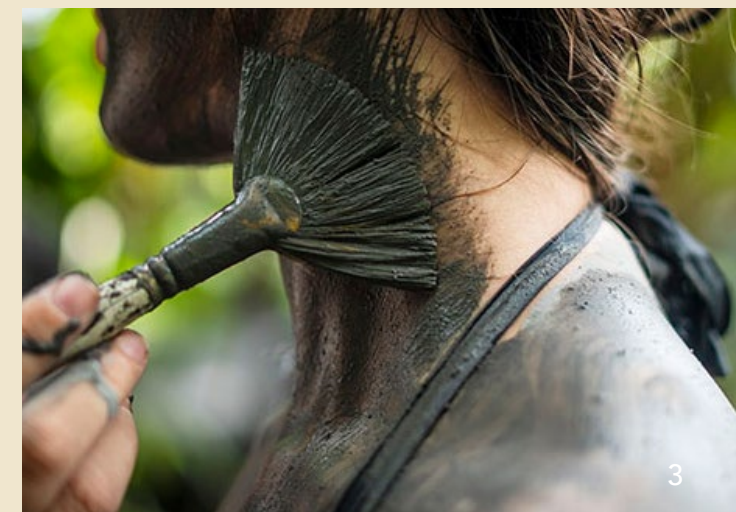

If you want to learn more about the area or if you are interested in adventure activities like ziplining or rafting, guided tours are available in La Fortuna. There are also activities that you can enjoy completely free, such as walks around the town, visiting crystal clear rivers or visiting the Arenal Lake and if you rent a bicycle, take a ride through different nearby towns such as El Castillo or La Guaria. Finally, your vacation in La Fortuna Costa Rica will not be complete without a visit the hot springs of the Arenal Volcano.

If you ask a resident what the weather is like in La Fortuna, they will surely say that it varies and can change from one minute to the next. It really is, it can be hot and sunny in the morning with pouring rain just a few hours later.

Generally, the months of January, February, March and April are very hot with less rain, but that does not mean that it does not rain at all. The rainiest months of the year are May, June, September, October and November but, then again, that does not mean that we don't experience some amazing sunsets during these months. The hottest temperatures of the year can be around 33-35 degrees Celsius, while the coldest temperatures can reach 15-17 degrees Celsius.

There are plenty of dining options in La Fortuna and the Arenal Volcano area, with all kinds of restaurants, a varied cuisine and something for all budgets. If you are wondering where to eat in La Fortuna, you will get a lot of options as an answer.

Typical "sodas" or diners, which are the cheapest places to eat in La Fortuna, and in Costa Rica in general, serve traditional Costa Rican dishes such as a "casado" or "gallo pinto". Sodas are the eateries most visited by Costa Ricans.

However, in La Fortuna of San Carlos, you can also find Chinese, Italian, Peruvian, Colombian and a variety of international restaurants to satisfy any palate. And of course, you can't miss the fast food restaurants or pizzerias. Savor delicious meals while enjoying the view of the imposing Arenal Volcano.

This area offers visitors a number of different lodging options, from economic hotels to world renowned luxurious resorts.

Budget hotels in La Fortuna are generally located in town, very close to supermarkets, drug stores and shops. Here, you can find everything from hostels to shared rooms or small rooms.

Outside of La Fortuna, towards the Arenal Volcano National Park, you will find a variety of hotels along the road that offer direct views of the Arenal Volcano and some even have hot springs within their facilities. About 20 kilometers west of town, you will find hotels that offer panoramic views of Lake Arenal.

Hanging bridges

Hanging bridges interconnect trails allowing visitors to experience the splendor of the environment. They facilitate access, safely allowing you to immerse yourself in the different forests of Costa Rica.

They were made to allow visitors to appreciate flora and fauna from a different perspective, since they pass through several levels of the forest. From these bridges you can view the treetops, making it easier to spot animals and birds.

Charming trails. This activity can be done in several places in La Fortuna de San Carlos. The length and number of bridges varies from place to place. Specialized guides are the best way to learn more about the secrets of the surrounding flora and fauna.

Bird Watching

Jabiru

Due to the terrain, surrounded by mountains, rivers, lakes, and different types of forests in such a reduced space, Arenal Volcano, La Fortuna, and the surrounding area is a privileged place for bird watching, not only in Costa Rica but also in America.

It is a paradise for bird lovers. Of the more than 900 confirmed species in Costa Rica, you will find that approximately 500 species have been recorded in the Arenal Volcano area, including the lovely cotinga, black-crested coquette, yellow-eared toucanet, umbrella bird, emerald tanager, curassow, thicket antpitta, eagle, tiger heron, trogon, toucans, cuckoo, oropendolas, motmots, flycatchers and more.

Experienced guides will help you identify them by their shape and color, as well as by recognizing their calls.

How to get there?

La Fortuna de San Carlos is in the northern part of Costa Rica and can be accessed by different routes and from different destinations. Likewise, you can use several transportation options to get to La Fortuna, whether you rent a car or book a private transportation or shuttle service.

From San José:

Route 1 is the most used route. It is through San Ramón and there is a second route through Zarcero. In either case, it is about 2.5 hour drive from La Fortuna to San José.

Route 4 through Braulio Carrillo and Sarapiquí, allows you to travel to the Central Valley or to the Caribbean.

During the trip there are several things you can do or visit, for example you could go to Naranjo and be a part of a coffee tour, or you could pass through very picturesque towns like Sarchí and stop at the Zarcero park.

From Monteverde:

If you are coming or going to Monteverde from La Fortuna, you can take the traditional route, passing through Tilarán, which will take approximately 3 hours. You could also take the jeep boat jeep option, which takes you from your hotel in La Fortuna to your hotel in Monteverde and includes a small boat ride on Lake Arenal.

From Liberia Guanacaste

The most used route is passing through Cañas and Tilarán, that takes about 2.5 hours and during your trip you could contemplate the Arenal Lake.

It is important to mention that you can also use public bus transportation to get to La Fortuna, although it takes longer, and you may have to make one or two bus stops along the way.
